RUB YOUR BACK! STOPS LUMBAGO

Don't Drug the Kidneys! Rub the Pain Right Out With Old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or blister the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 50 years. Stop drugging kidneys! They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore, can not cause pain.—Adv.

sermon in the United Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. Rev. I. E. Runk preached the sermon and used as the text, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift." This conveyed the idea to the people of looking beyond material property, carrying the idea of looking upward to the things that are higher, outward toward the things that are deeper, and inward toward the things that are holier, meaning God, humanity, life experience and conscience. Music was furnished by the United Presbyterian choir and a collection was taken up and turned over to the Associated Charities.

OHIO ROADS MUST REPORT

Utilities Commission Requires Statements of Loaded and Unloaded Cars.

The Ohio Utilities Commission has taken a hand in the car shortage investigation, and has issued an order that all Ohio railroads must report at once all cars under load in Ohio as well as unloaded cars, in order to ascertain whether embargoes have been placed on any other commodities other than coal and to what extent coal cars are being diverted to other than coal carrying purposes.

The order was the result of a complaint from Akron, to the effect that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad had placed an embargo on coal entering that city. The railroad announces the embargo will be enforced until coal cars under load in that city have been unloaded and returned.

REMOVING THE DIFFERENTIAL.

The effect of the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in removing the 15 cent differential on coal shipments from the Connellville region to Eastern points, will be to place the Connellville region on an even basis with the Fairmont and Westmoreland districts in competing for business. It will no doubt do much to stimulate the coal trade of the Connellville region among Eastern by-product consumers, most of whom have hitherto depended upon the West Virginia fields for the bulk of their supply. The natural preference has been for Connellville coal, even at material difference in price, but the freight differential has caused the divergence of much of their business to districts more favored in the matter of rates. With this handicap removed from the Connellville region there ought to be many opportunities for an expansion of coal trade which will more than compensate for the loss in volume of coal trade incident to the recent and prospective growth of the by-product industry.

The success which has attended the efforts of the merchant operators in their partial victory in the fight for more equitable freight rates is largely due to two important factors.

In the first place they had justice and equity, two other formidable allies, upon their side. That the Connellville region has been allowed to remain apart between two competing fields in which operating and market conditions and character and uses of product are much the same, and compelled to pay 15 cents more a ton for the privilege of marketing its product in the raw state, has been one of the many anomalies and incongruities of the freight rate situation. True, this condition was, in the first place, largely the result of the operators' own choosing. Before the advent of the by-product coal even when it was fairly believed that no other fuel would ever supplant beehive coke made in the Connellville region as the standard metallurgical fuel, the operators of those days deemed it unwise and inexpedient to allow coal to be shipped out of the region to be used elsewhere in its raw state. When later the evolution set in whereby the Connellville region began to change from a coke making to a coal producing center, it became evident to the merchant operators of a later generation that the restrictions imposed at an earlier period must be removed.

Meanwhile the market had fixed certain arbitrary boundaries to adjacent districts somewhat after the indelicacy of the law of the Medes and Persians, and had given to these districts coal freight rates which placed them at a distinct advantage over the Connellville region when it began to go into the market created by the newly made by-product coke industry.

In making appeal for relief from these manifestly inequitable conditions the Connellville merchant operators, through the Connellville Coal Tariff Association, pursued a wise course. No effort was made to gain an advantage over a competing district through a reduction of the Connellville rates, or an increase of the rates in other districts. An entirely different policy was pursued, the request being simply that the Connellville region be given such rates as would allow its coal producers to enter the markets on an even footing with its neighbors. In so far as freight rates were concerned, fair opportunity not unequal advantages was all that was sought.

The other factor contributing to the success gained was the excellent and thorough preparation of the case. The salient facts of the situation were set forth so clearly and convincingly that they became almost self-evident and without the necessity for further proof. The tempo and spirit in which the fight was conducted was commendable. The rights and equities of other districts were given due consideration, not disregarded. The end aimed at was justice and fairness to all.

A lesson of the hour, which ought not to be overlooked, is that the progress and ultimate result of the efforts of the merchant operators, as have been given concrete expression through the Connellville Coal Tariff Association, places a new value on the benefits to be derived from unity of interest, purpose and action. It is no reflection upon the resources, capability or ability of any operator to act alone or upon his own initiative, he would probably not have been able to achieve the results which mark the success of the joint efforts of those constituting the membership of the association.

PLAYGROUNDS.

The playgrounds proposition appears to have made a definite start, at least to the extent of arousing a more general interest among the people of the city. Lacking, as many do, knowledge concerning the methods of conducting these enterprises, and the benefits and advantages to be derived from them, the suggestion to enter upon a campaign of education is very timely.

Connellville people on the whole have never been slow to adopt new ideas or take up with good things once they are convinced of their necessity, utility, profitability or value. The success of a general playground plan is more certainly to be assured if time be taken by the promoters of the idea to correctly and fully enlighten the public on the several phases of the work. It is planned, so far as has been announced, to devote the winter season to educating the public to the needs of playgrounds and their value to a community which is giving some thought and attention to the future of its rising generations. To learn what other communities are doing along these lines cannot but be helpful and ought also to bring our people to a realizing sense of our own needs.

Aside from the possible necessity of increasing the tax levy sufficient to provide funds for an appropriation to cover the expense—to which some taxpayers may be inclined to object—there appears to be no valid reason against the inauguration of a playground system. On the other hand there are many reasons why we should have it. The first duty of the promoters will be then to place all the facts, including also the expense likely to be incurred in equipment and maintenance, and other essential details before the people in order that they may arrive at a proper understanding of the project as a whole. Some worthy objects have failed, and others very nearly failed, in Connellville because the public did not have sufficient information about them to form a correct judgment. In the case of playgrounds it would seem advisable that the facts of no less worthy objects should be kept in mind and the public fully informed before any decisive steps are taken. This is the disposition of those behind the present movement and they will no doubt find the public responsive in the case of playgrounds. In the case of playgrounds they will succeed in making plain all obtainable facts about playgrounds, their necessity, and the advantages and benefits that will follow the introduction of this very useful accessory in the training and health building of child life in our city.

CHANCE FOR TEAM WORK.

It looks as though there is a very good opportunity for team work in the line of civic improvements through a union of forces by the Playground advocates and the persons interested in the Young Parkway plan. The aims of both groups is in the direction of providing recreation spots in the city hence it would seem that they would be in a position to help each other by uniting their efforts.

While there is considerable difference in the propositions there is a common object. To a certain extent it would be possible for the plans of one body to be made to harmonize with the other, hence each would gain by the other's cooperation.

In getting things done there's nothing like team work.

The harmless character of the speedy game may be judged by those recollections which the Uniontown News Standard reports will be taken at tomorrow's game. "Three drags and a kick" from the Oliver & Snyder Steel Company, under the direction of instructor Clyde C. Drenth and a corps of players will be stationed about the track. The first six men will bring their equipment and will be ready to deliver the first kick in volunteer surgery in the event of mishaps.

Bob White and Bunney may venture forth today without danger of drawing the enemy's fire.

Returns from 15 states show that during the recent hunting season hunters were killed and injured by having been "mistaken for deer or rabbits" by game and more cases are being reported. The hunters are being misled by the law of the Medes and Persians, and had given to these districts coal freight rates which placed them at a distinct advantage over the Connellville region when it began to go into the market created by the newly made by-product coke industry.

Some are thankful today that they didn't have turkey.

Santa Claus ought to be able to get along fairly well with the $30,000,000 moved up for him by the 2,825,000 members of the Christmas Savings Clubs in the United States.

The Mexican invasion of the coke region is entirely peaceful.

An American ship, carrying no munitions or contraband of war, has been sunk by a German or Austrian torpedo in the Mediterranean ocean with the stars and stripes, with its captain refused to lower, still flying at its masthead. Upon receipt of this information Washington advises that "no war crime is expected." Of course not, just the same old crime which the Administration has failed to meet every time American lives or property have been destroyed.

When that dam is built in the "Yough at the north end of town damming the Yough will be at an end in all parts of the town.

Some of the turkeys are holding "Thanksgiving exercises today out of gratitude to those indignant housewives who held the embargo on high prices. The most dealers are not generally joining in the service.

It is better to have been turkles and thankful than full of turk and thankful.

Charles Palmer, of Chester, who opposed Justice Waiving for the Supreme Court, is a good loser as well as a mild humorist. In his latest contribution to his successful opponent he said, "your election is motivated by the unselfish return of a few hundred thousand majority, more or less."

Only 21 more shopping days until Christmas, but you can do a lot of buying in that time if you begin early.

The statistics of the game slaughter in Pennsylvania during the season just closed show that the usual reports from the butcheries of Europe.

The merchant coke operators of the Connellville region (not the laughing bird of a new species yesterday, but, too, as it is not often that they get reductions in freight rates, either East or West.

Don't forget to Mail Early after having Shopped Early.

In Uniontown the old adage has been revised to read, "Never run on Thursday the races you can put off until Saturday."

OPERATORS WIN FIGHT FOR LOWER RATES ON COAL.

Iron Coke Company, Republic Iron & Steel Company, Taylor Coal & Coke Company, Thompson Connellville Coke Company, Union Connellville Coke Company, United Connellville Coke Company, W. J. Raley, and Watersburg Coke Company.

Richard Peters, Jr., of New York, assistant to Scott Stewart, general manager of the W. J. Raley interests, was made chairman, and R. M. Fry, of Uniontown, general manager of the Iron Coke Company, was chosen secretary. These officers together with George Wigel, of the Consolidated Connellville Coke Company; John Brennan, president of the Thompson Connellville Coke Company; J. R. Gray, of the Pittsburgh Coke Company; and M. L. Loomis, of the Producers Coke Company, constituted the executive committee.

Meanwhile there was in progress before the Interstate Commerce Commission the appeal of the West Virginia coal operators and other producers to make permanent the suspension of the proposed advance by the railroads serving the West Virginia coal fields in rates on bituminous coal to the central freight association territory. In the progress of this case before the commission that body invited coal operators in adjacent districts to intervene in the proceedings. Acting upon this request the Connellville Coal Tariff Association prepared and filed a petition for a ruling by the commission on the question whether or not the reasonableness of the differentials between the Pittsburgh, Fairmont and other districts on the one hand and the Connellville district on the other hand was a proper subject of inquiry in the original proceedings, were commonly known as the Fifteen Cent Advance case.

In preparation for a hearing on this petition the Connellville Coal Tariff Association employed Cuyler, Wickeshaam & Taft, the well known attorneys of New York. The work was assigned to C. Andrade, Jr., of that firm. With the assistance of E. F. Honaker and W. E. Taft, the widely known engineers and experts of Pittsburgh, a series of maps was prepared to give a graphic representation of the incongruities of the existing freight rate situation, and elaborate data was compiled to further establish the validity of the claim that the Connellville coke region was, in all fairness and equity, entitled to freight rates on coal shipments at least no higher than those prevailing in the immediately adjoining districts.

Hearings were held before Examiner or Marshall of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Atlantic City in July and later in Detroit. The testimony of the Connellville Coal Tariff Association was given in full, and the case of the Connellville operators was the subject of much favorable comment by attorneys and experts present at the hearings, and the impression was general that the contentions had been established beyond reasonable doubt or question. Later the case was argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which body has rendered a decision favorable to the Connellville operators in so far as relates to rates on shipments of coal to Eastern destinations.

HEARTY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel
Buckache or Have Bladder Trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by pushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat from uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jod Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jod Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

EVERY MOTHER WANTS A BOUNCING BABY

Thompson's Food (Peptonized) is peculiarly adapted to infant feeding, as it is most nearly like mother's milk. It contains all the elements necessary to the proper growth of the infant and is the only brand of food containing in combination the food values of pure, sweet milk, select barley malt and the elements of beef juice.

If you want your baby to become strong, healthy, full of life and vigor, feed it Thompson's Food (Peptonized).

It is a complete food in itself. Very easily prepared by the mere addition of water. It is not a milk modifier. Its use eliminates the danger usually associated with the local milk supply.

A GOOD PROGRAM FOR WINTER MEET OF MINING INSTITUTE

Annual Meeting to be Held December 6th and 7th in Pittsburgh.

MANY TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

Relation to New and Improved Methods and Practices in Mining, Prevention of Accidents, Work of Compensation and Other Subjects of Interest

The winter meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America will be held December 6th and 7th at the Fort Pitt hotel, Pittsburgh. This annual gathering, which has been increasing in interest and value as a means of disseminating information relating to mining methods, will draw a large number of mine owners, operators, engineers and others to its two day sessions.

The opening session at 9:30 A. M. on December 6th will be occupied by the transaction of the annual business of the institute including the election of officers and the retiring president's address. This will be followed by the "Question Box" which has always proven to be one of the most important and most interesting portions of the program. W. L. Fohl, the mining engineer of Pittsburgh, will be leader of this feature.

At the afternoon session this form of discussion will be continued during a portion of the period, followed by a paper entitled, "Permissible Explosives" to be presented by F. M. Gunter, manager of the technical division of the du Pont Powder Company. L. D. Smith, mining engineer of the Morrisdale Coal Company, Morrisdale, Pa. will read a paper on "Handling Mine Water."

The institute dinner will be served at the Fort Pitt hotel at 7:30. At this function W. L. Fohl, general manager of the Bessmer Coal Company, will act as toastmaster. Director Van H. Manning, of the United States Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C. will deliver an address on "Federal Aid to the Coal Mining Industry" and evening will conclude with "Recs of Real Mining Movies" furnished by the United States Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh.

At the second day's morning session Nicholas Evans, State Mine Inspector, of Johnstown, will present a paper, "Mine Accidents," to be followed by J. T. Jennings, electrical engineer of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, who will trace the "History and Development of the Electric Mine Safety Lamp." John Price Jackson, Commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg, will present the results accomplished by "The First Year of Workmen's Compensation."

At the afternoon session C. M. Means, of Randolph-Means Company, Pittsburgh, will explain the construction and operation of "A New Electrical Device for Detecting Gas in Coal Mines." The last formal paper of the session will be read by E. G. Gird, State Mine Inspector, of Massachusetts, who will consider, "General Mine Practice." Following this there will be a general discussion of all the papers and an exchange of opinions on the subjects considered.

The institute is at present offered as follows: Joseph Knappier, Philadelphia, president; W. L. Fohl, Pittsburgh, and J. B. Hanford, Morgantown, vice presidents; S. B. Smith, Pittsburgh, acting secretary; treasurer: R. Dawson Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y. editor of proceedings; Joseph

RHEUMATISM

Physicians Believe a Genuine Remedy for the Disease Has Been Found.

Rheuma, the wonderful rheumatism remedy sold by A. A. Clark, and all druggists, gives quicker and more lasting relief than other remedies costing many times as much.

Rheuma passes the deadly poisonous secretions into the bowels and kidneys, from which they are quickly thrown off in a natural, healthy way.

Read what a reputable physician says about Rheuma: "I have made a most careful investigation of the formula employed in the manufacture of Rheuma, and I heartily recommend it as a remedy for all forms of rheumatism. I find Rheuma far in advance of the methods generally employed in the treatment of rheumatism, and altogether different in composition from the remedies usually prescribed."

Dr. Lyons: "This should give any sufferer from rheumatism confidence to try Rheuma."—Adv.

ORE PRICES FIXED FOR 1917

An Increase of $1.50 a Ton Over The Season Now Closing; No Fears of Iron Shortage This Winter.

Prices for Lake Superior iron ore for the season of 1917 have been established at $1.50 per ton advance over the schedule in force for the season just ending, says B. E. V. Luty in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The new prices are: Old range Bessemer, $5.55; old range non-Bessemer, $5.20; Mesabi Bessemer, $5.70; Mesabi non-Bessemer, $5.05. The prices are per gross ton on Lake Erie dock, the basic ore containing 55 per cent iron in the case of Bessemer and 51.5 per cent in the case of non-Bessemer. Very low prices obtained in the seasons of 1914 and 1915, there being an advance of 70 cents for the 1916 season, making the total advance $2.20 from the low level to the level for 1917. Of the $1.50 advance made for the coming season the ore producers realize only $1, as the lake vessel rate has become established at $1, a 50-cent advance from the rate for 1916.

There were fears of an iron shortage this winter, but the amount moved out of the Lake Superior region this year promises to be about 64,000,000 tons, an ample supply. Part of this came from stock piles and more would have to be mined next year to maintain the volume of shipment, while there will be a few more blast furnaces and the requirements will be increased. Lake vessels to be completed in time for the 1917 movement will provide 4,000,000 tons increased carrying capacity for the season.

The ore prices for 1917 are the highest in the history of the Mesabi range, but they are not particularly high as compared with market prices for pig iron. The advances made for the seasons of 1910 and 1915 were much higher in relation to the price of pig iron, which is now at the highest level for more than a third of a century, even though it is regarded as low relative to prices for unfinished and finished steel.

New Car Orders.
Newly placed car orders add 5,000 to 6,000 cars to those recently awarded to builders, while active inquiries total 16,000 to 20,000 cars. New inquiries include 1,000 gondolas for the New York Central.

More Coal to South America.
South America took about four times as much coal from the United States in the fiscal year 1916 as in years prior to the war.

GIVES ADVICE TO SUFFERERS

Misery was His Daily Companion Until Master Medicine Came to His Relief.

"I had catarrh of the stomach in its most drastic form," says Henry Fenstermaker, a well-known cement worker, of Altoona, Pa. "This had spread down into my lower bowels and words cannot describe my sufferings. "I hated to see morning come, for as soon as I got up I would suffer an attack of nausea and there would come a boring pain in my abdomen that would double me up like a jack-knife. "My appetite was good, but I didn't dare eat, for so sure as I ate even the simplest food there would follow those agonizing pains. I also suffered constantly from sick headache. "I tried remedy after remedy, and I don't know how many prescriptions, but I just kept on getting worse instead of better. "I had almost lost hope of ever getting well when I began using Tanlac. It was wonderful how quickly it relieved me. "Now I have been entirely relieved and I have no more suffering. Those pains in my stomach have disappeared, my bowels are as regular as clock work, my headaches are gone and I can eat heartily and enjoy every mouthful."

Tanlac, the famous Master Medicine, is now sold here by Connellsville Drug Co. Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Esson's Drug Store.—Adv.

LIMESTONE HIGHER.

Increase in Price Due to Higher Labor and Transportation Costs.

Prices of limestone used in blast furnaces and mined in the Mahoning valley will be at least 15 per cent higher in the coming year's contracts. Supplies for the present were at the range of 70 to 75 cents a gross ton, but the rate prevails that contracts for 1917 will be at least 85 cents.

Higher rates of transportation, labor costs at the quarries all have combined to make the advance almost imperative.

More By-Product Ovens.
The Woodward Iron Co., of Alabama will add 60 coke ovens to its plant.

Prepare yourself for a healthy, happy Xmas; bath and clean your stomach, liver and bowels; make them fresh and active; able to do their full duty—then you'll be well and happy—Holler's Rocky Mountain Tea does the work Nature's way. Tea or Tablets, 35c, Connellsville Drug Co.—Adv.

FUEL SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Car Movement in October Showed an Increase Over September.

The statistics compiled by C. E. Lester, of the United Geological Survey, showing the movement of coal and coke in car lots in October to have been as follows: Carloads of bituminous coal October, 1916, 418,270; September, 1916, 394,576; October, 1915, 463,355. Carloads of bituminous coke October, 1916, 54,253; September, 1916, 53,215; October, 1915, 48,436.

October, 1916, showed an increase in shipments of bituminous coal of 6 per cent over September, 1916, and a decrease of nearly 10 per cent from October, 1915. The increase in shipments of bituminous coke for the same month was 2 per cent and 12 per cent, respectively.

A BIG ORGANIZATION TO CONTROL CARS IS NOW SUGGESTED

As Means of Securing Better Distribution and Movement.

CARS NOW COMMON PROPERTY

Of All Railroads to Use as Long as They Need Them; The New Arrangement Would Simplify Matters and Insure Better Service and Control.

It was plainly revealed, says S. G. Wilmer in the Manufacturers Record, by the car shortage investigation conducted at Louisville by C. C. McCord, one of the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, that no matter how railroad freight cars may be individually owned, they become in practice the property of the railroads as a whole and are used as such. This has never before been so plainly put before the attention of the public, and it suggests the thought that it might be well for the various railroads to bring about the organization of a great car owning and distributing company, which shall be vested with the ownership of all railroad freight cars now existing, and which shall hereafter be built, and that it shall allot them and reallocate them in various quantities to the different railroads from time to time as the demands of traffic and the interests of the people require, a per diem rental being charged for their use. This central car organization should, of course, have absolute authority to compel, under heavy penalties for refusal, the return of freight cars from any line or lines to its headquarters, or the return of any line or lines which may stand more in need of them than the lines on which they may happen to be in use at any time.

While it is proposed to hereafter maintain an equilibrium as to cars by the imposition of higher demurrage charges, it appears that so long as cars are individually owned by the various railroad companies, just so long will there be serious difficulties encountered in their use whenever they are off the line of their parent companies. Even with advanced demurrage it would be possible for railroads to retain cars which they might want because the proposed per diem charges which they would be obliged to pay for their use are not so high as the proposed demurrage per diem which shippers and receivers of freight would pay, and it might be profitable to them to pay their charges for a length of time sufficient to be profitable and yet so comparatively little duration that the cars would be on their way home before the steps necessary to secure their return could be taken. Moreover, to secure prompt return and adequate service it would be better for the administration of the car service regulations to be in charge of a body entirely disconnected from the railroads, because one railroad company might not, for various reasons, wish to take drastic steps against another company to get back its own cars, and while this hesitancy continued the public would be the sufferer.

By such an arrangement as is here suggested the Interstate Commerce Commission in dealing with car service would have to do with but one body, namely this proposed central organization which would be in position to consider the car requirements of the country in its entirety with a breadth of vision not possible to any one of the railroads or to the now existing railroad associations. It could keep the public closely informed day by day as to car needs and distribution, and the railroad service could be raised to a much higher plane of efficiency.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Re-opens Its Mine. The Central Iron & Steel Company, Harrisburg, has recently re-opened the mines of its subsidiary, the Connellsville Basin Coal Company, at Rock Forge, W. Va., on the Morgantown & Kingswood railroad. The coal is superior Freepoint vein. Part of the product will be used by the steel works, and the balance either put on the market as steam coal or converted into coke for the furnace and foundry trade.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE BIG SISTER"—A powerful drama of the underworld, starring Mae Murray, and the sixth episode of "The Scarlet Runner," with Marie Williams in the leading role, are being presented today. There is a powerful story in "The Big Sister," in which Miss Murray, the gifted star, is seen. The story relates the struggle between two vastly different types of men for the same girl. The girl, Betty Norton, is the daughter of a worthless individual who leaves her penniless and in sole charge of her little brother, Jimmy. "Nifty" Mendez, an underworld power, attempts to get control of the girl through intimidation, and in her flight from this man she meets Rodney Channing, a young millionaire. These are the two men to whom this girl appeals, arousing such very different emotions in each. With all New York on which to draw for his settings O'Brien has been able to choose many interesting locations as a background for Miss Murray's clever acting. The story deals with the underworld element of society, its conflict with the other half which does not know or care how it lives. Miss Murray is ably supported by Harry C. Browne, Ida Darling, Arnold Cortes, Matty Roubert and others. Tomorrow, Louise Glaum and Howard Hickman will be seen in "Somewhere in France," a Triangle production in five acts. Charlie Chaplin, the famous comedian, will appear Thursday, December 14, in "Behind the Scenes," his latest comedy release. Manager Wagner has booked "Purity," the American Film production, starring Audrey Munson. The picture is one of rare charm, of exquisite beauty and superb entertainment.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"THE POLLY OF REVENGE"—A five reel (van production) will be shown here today. It is an interesting drama concerning an artist's model. "The Slave of a Rebel Chief," a two reel Biograph drama, "Their First Arrest," a Joker comedy with Gale Henry, "A Capable Lady Cook," a Nestor comedy. Tomorrow, Frances Nelson and Arthur Ashley in the five reel World drama, "The Revolt." It is a play on a big topic, telling how an innocent shop girl resists the evil suggestions of her stepmother, marries a well-meaning young man who is alienated for the moment by the nagging of the stepmother and through his domestic neglect becomes so disheartened that he is upon the verge of ruin.

"WATCH YOUR STEP" DRAWS BIG HOUSE

Colonial Theatre Is Jammed for Musical Comedy; Dancing and Costumes Fine.

"Watch Your Step," the synopsized musical comedy that once afforded big opportunities for Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, Frank Flinn and Harry Kelly, played at the Colonial on Wednesday night to a crowded house. It was the first time the playhouse was filled for a legitimate theatrical attraction for many years. Even the boxes were occupied and there was a gallery full of youngsters who clapped, yelled and cat-called as the gallery gods used to before the movies came. Just what brought it about, the experts cannot agree upon. Some say it was because there has not been a show in Connellsville for a long time; others claim it was because people have lots of money for amusements; there are some who attribute it to the regular pulling power of the show's title; D. S. Trimble, who brought the attraction here, says newspaper publicity was the direct cause. Anyway, a tremendous house was present.

The company was a large one. There was a variety of good voices, but the principals got the songs across well enough to bring forth generous applause. The dancing was exceptionally good, particularly that of Olin Howland, the "dancing master." The chorus was well trained and the production excellently well staged. The costumes were elaborate.

TRY NEW SYSTEM

Government Proposes Revised Plan of Estimating Crop Figures.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The method of estimating the size of the country's farm crops has been so improved and systematized that the actual production of important products is now made with a close degree of accuracy by the Bureau of Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. Nearly two million schedules are handled each year by that bureau in making up the government monthly crop reports. About one hundred and sixty thousand names are constantly making personal investigations, one agent covering a state; and 105 clerks are employed in Washington handling the large number of reports from the voluntary crop reporters and to keep records of crop information and its foreign countries.

So carefully and systematically have the work been organized that the 1915 cotton crop estimate was only three tenths of one per cent less than the amount actually gleaned as reported by the Census Bureau after the close of the season.

The most complete record in existence is kept in the Bureau of the Estimates and Statistics relating to the world's crops and live stock.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

One of the largest events of Thanksgiving was the annual Thanksgiving bazaar and supper of the congregation of the immaculate Conception church held last evening in the parish school auditorium. The bazaar was a grand success and was attended by an unusually large crowd. Supper was served from 5 to 10 o'clock in the basement of the auditorium by the Young Ladies' Sodality and was perfect in all its appointments. The large tables presented a scene of rare beauty, each being decorated with high chairs, centerpieces in gorgeous colors, silver and crystal centerpieces capped with dainty shades, and baskets of choice fruit. Adorning the banquet were large bowls of tulle. The supper consisted of turkey, cold ham, cold salad, oysters, pickles, olives, ice cream, cake and coffee and all the other good things which help to make a Thanksgiving giving supper. At each table were a number of young women, members of the Sodality, who saw that all who attended were generously served. The bazaar which was held in the large auditorium was a big attraction. Articles at all the booths were readily disposed of. At the fancywork booth there was a grand collection of exquisite fancywork, suitable for Christmas gifts for all, while at the domestic booth articles of a more staple nature were on sale. There was a great variety of dolls on sale at the doll booth, which was a new feature introduced at the bazaar. A nice soup was realized from the candy and flower booth. The girls in charge of the Japanese booth met with great success in disposing of their articles. Mrs. William Noland won a 200 pound hog and a load of coal, Edward McElvaine of Everett the diamond ring, and Miss Margaret King the diamond ring. The success of the bazaar is due to the untiring effort of the heads of the committees and their aid who put forth every possible effort to have the affair meet with success. This is the one big benefit event of the year in the church and always attracts a large crowd from Conneltsville and nearby towns. Dining was indulged in later in the evening.

"Meat Prices Will Not Come Down" is the cheerful news that comes from the Department of Agriculture. Meat prices will not worry the man or woman who knows that a Shredded Wheat Biscuit will supply more real body-building nutriment than beefsteak or eggs and at much less cost. Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves Baby When Other Medicines Failed.

Earl DuBois

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred DuBois, Mt. Holly, N. Y., says:

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation I have ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

WAR VETERANS SUPPER GUESTS

Rev. W. H. Gladden is Host to the Members of William F. Kertz Post No. 104.

Rev. W. H. Gladden, an honorary member of William F. Kertz Post, No. 104, entertained the members of the post at a supper at his home on Wednesday afternoon at his home on South Eighth street. The social gathering was opened at 2.45 with the singing of "America," and was closed at 5.30 with the rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Supper was served by Rev. Gladden, and it proved to be a bountiful repast. The evening was much enjoyed when they saw a roast pig, stuffed with oysters, on the table. While the pig was being carved, Captain E. Dunn was called on for a speech and responded. At the close of the supper the Post extended a vote of thanks to Commander J. J. Barnhart, who furnished the pig.

An interesting program was carried out before supper. Rev. T. M. Gladden led in prayer. Rev. W. H. Gladden made a speech of welcome, and J. R. Baisley responded. C. H. Whiteley gave a reading and W. NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Stanford, Conn., Nurse Tells How She Found Health.

Stanford, Conn.—"I am a nurse and suffered from a nervous breakdown. I had no appetite and could not sleep at night, and nothing seemed to help me. By chance I heard of Vinol, and after taking the first bottle I noticed an improvement, and four bottles made me well and strong. It gave me a hearty appetite, so I can sleep soundly night or day. I consider Vinol a wonderful tonic."—Edith R. Forbes, Stanford, Conn.

The reason Vinol is so successful in overcoming such conditions is because it is a constitutional remedy and goes to the seat of the trouble. It is the greatest strength creator we know—due to the best and cod liver pentones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates which it contains, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

We have seen so many wonderful recoveries like this right here in Conneltsville caused by Vinol, that we feel perfectly safe in offering to return money in every such case where Vinol fails to benefit.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Late September had come. The Street had been furiously busy for a month. The old-fashioned street, and from curb to curb stretched smooth asphalt. To this general excitement the strange case of Mr. Le Moyne had added its quota. One day he was in the gas office, making out statements that were absolutely ridiculous. And the next there was the little house, Le Moyne had been only taking a holiday in the gas office and that he was really a very great surgeon and had saved Dr. Max Wilson.

The Street, which was busy at the time deciding whether to leave the old sidewalks or to put down cement ones, had one evening of mad excitement over the matter of K., not the sidewalk-walks—and then had accepted the new situation.

But over the news of K.'s approaching departure it mourned. The Street made a resolve to keep K., if possible, if he had shown any "high and mighty" as they called it, since the change in his estate, it would have let him go without protest. But when a man is the real thing—so that the newspapers give a column to his having been in the city almost two years—and still goes about in the same shabby clothes, with the same friendly greeting for everyone, it demonstrates clearly, as the baritone put it, that "his got no sweetened heart on him; that's sure."

A little later, K., coming up the Street as he had that first day, heard the baritone sing:

"Home is the hunter's home from the hill,
And the sailor, home from the sea."
Home! Why, this was home. The Street seemed to stretch out its arms to him. The alumnus from the sunlight before the little house, tree and house were old; September had touched them. Christine sat on the new cement under the tree. He stood back, head on one side, while he finished, and he looked at K. K. read to chalk on the smooth street:

Max Wilson.
Sidney Page.
The baritone was still singing; but now it was "In twenty-one, and she's eighteen." The light was gone from K.'s face again. After all, the Street meant for him not so much home as it meant Sidney. And now, before very long, that book of his life, like others, would have to be closed.

He turned and went heavily into the little house.

Christine called to him from her little balcony:

"I thought I heard your step outside. Have you time to come in?"

K. went through the parlor and stood in the long window. His steady eyes looked down at her.

"I am very little of you now," she complained. And when he did not reply immediately, "Have you made any definite plans, K.?"

"I shall do Max's work until he is able to take hold again. After that—"

"You will go away?"

"I think so. I am getting a good many letters, one way and another, I suppose. Now I'm back in harness, I'll stop. My old place is closed. I'd go back there—they want me. But it seems so futile, Christine, to leave as I did, because I felt that I had no right to go on as things were; and now to crawl back on the strength of having had my hand forced, and to take up things again, not knowing that I'm a bit more right to do it than when I left."

"I want to see Max yesterday. You know what he thinks about all that."

"He took a wuency turn up and down the balcony."

"But who?" he demanded. "Who would do such a thing? I tell you, Christine, it is impossible."

She did not pursue the subject. Her thoughts had flown down to the little house without K., to days without his steps on the stairs or the heavy creak of his big chair overhead as he dropped into it.

But perhaps it would be better if he went. She had her own life to live. She had no expectation of happiness, but, somehow or other, she must build on the shaky foundation of her marriage a house of life, with resignation serving for content, perhaps with fear lurking always. That she knew. But with no active misery, Sidney implied affection, and her love for Palmer was quite dead.

"Sidney will be here this afternoon." "Good." His tone was uncommittal.

"Has it occurred to you, K., that Sidney is not very happy?"

"He stopped in front of her."

"She had a great anxiety."

"She has no anxiety now. Max is doing well."

"Then what is it?"

"I'm not quite sure, but I think I know. She's lost faith in Max, and she's not like me. I—I know how Palmer before I married him. It's all rather hideous—I couldn't go into it. But Sidney has more character than I have. Max isn't what she thought he was, and I don't believe she'll marry him."

K. glanced toward the street where Sidney's name and Max's lay open to the sun and to the smiles of the Street. Christine might be right, but that did not alter things for him.

Christine's thoughts went back inevitably to herself; to Palmer, who was doing better, just now, to K. who was going away—went back with an ache to the night K. had taken her in his arms and then put her away. How wrong things were! What a mess life was!

"When you go away," she said at last. "I want you to remember this. I'm going to do my best. K. You have taught me all I know. All my life I'll have to overlook things; I know that. But, in his way, Palmer cares for me. He will always come back, and perhaps sometime—"

Her voice trailed off. Far above of her she saw the years stretching out, marked, not by days and months, but by Palmer's wanderings away, his remorseful returns.

"Do a little more than forgetting," he said. "Try to care for him, Christine. You did once. And that's your strongest weapon. It's always a woman's strongest weapon. And it wins in the end."

"I shall try, K.," she answered obediently.

But he turned away from the look in her eyes.

Christine was abroad. She had sent cards from Paris to her "brother." It was an innovation. The two or three people on the Street who received her engraved announcement that she was there, "bringing new chic models for the autumn and winter—afternoon frocks, evening gowns, reception dresses, and wraps, from Paris, Martin of Armand, and others," left the envelopes casually on the parlor table, as if communications from Paris were quite to be expected.

So K. lunched alone, and ate little. Sidney came home at half-past two, and came delicately dressed, as if she had hurried, and with a triumphant smile that caught K.'s eyes at once.

"Dress the child!" she said. "There's no need to ask how he is today. You're all one smile."

"She smiles just a trifle."

"Katie, someone has written my name out on the street, in chalk. It's with Doctor Wilson's, and it looks so silly. Please go out and sweep it off."

"I'm about crazy with their old chalk. I'll do it after a while."

"Please do it now. I don't want anyone to see it. I—Mr. K. upstairs?"

But when she learned that K. was upstairs, oddly enough, she did not go up at once. She stood in the lower hall and listened. Yes, he was there. She could hear him moving about. Her lips parted slightly as she listened.

Christine, looking in from her balcony, saw her dress, and seeing something in her face that she had never suspected, put her hand to her throat.

"Sidney!"

"Oh—hello, Chris."

"Won't you come and sit with me?"

"I haven't much time—that is, I want to speak to K."

"You can see him when he comes down."

Sidney came slowly through the parlor. It occurred to her, all at once, that Christine must see a lot of K., especially now. No doubt he was in and out of the house often. And how pretty Christine was! She was unhappy, too. All that seemed to be necessary to win K.'s attention was to be unhappy enough. Well, surely, in that case—

"How is Max?"

"Still better."

Sidney sat down on the edge of the railing; but she was careful, Christine saw, to face the staircase. There was

"I think so. I am getting a good many letters, one way and another, I suppose. Now I'm back in harness, I'll stop. My old place is closed. I'd go back there—they want me. But it seems so futile, Christine, to leave as I did, because I felt that I had no right to go on as things were; and now to crawl back on the strength of having had my hand forced, and to take up things again, not knowing that I'm a bit more right to do it than when I left."

"I want to see Max yesterday. You know what he thinks about all that."

"He took a wuency turn up and down the balcony."

"But who?" he demanded. "Who would do such a thing? I tell you, Christine, it is impossible."

CONNELLSVILLE IS WHIPPED, 20-0, BY DUQUESNE SCHOOL

Game is Marred by Slugging, Culminating in Fist Fight.

VISITORSSHOW REAL TEAM WORK

Ward Eludes Tacklers and Makes Long Run; Rogers, Connellsville Guard, Stars on Line; Crowd Rushes on Field When Players Clash.

Connellsville high school went down to defeat Saturday before Duquesne Apprentice School, 20-0, in a game marred by rough work and open fighting among the players. The game was in marked contrast to last week's close contest with Greensburg. At one time, after Murtry, guard, and Ried, opposing end, had mixed it up, the entire crowd rushed on the field, and it was some minutes before they could be gotten back of the lines. After that the game degenerated into a farce.

The Connellsville players lacked pep and were not keyed up to the point with which they entered the Greensburg fray. Easily outplayed from the start, they seemed to lose their heads and were quick to respond to any rough work on the part of the visitors with similar fouling.

After a rather listless first quarter, Duquesne began to advance the ball steadily in the second period and soon pushed the C. H. S. boys back to their goal line. For some unknown reason, Referee Mestrezat gave Duquesne five downs in which to gain a touchdown and on the last of the five, Duquesne curried the ball over. After the visitors had made three tries at the goal line, they were penalized five yards for offside play. On the next down they again failed to score, but the officials decided that they had only had three downs, and were entitled to another. This time, Ward took the ball over. Kuchneman kicked goal. In the third quarter, Bainbridge scored a touchdown on a wide end run, after his team mates had made an irretrievable drive down the field. The burg, at one time, after Murtry, punt out on this play failed. In the local player, and Ried, opposing end, had mixed it up, the entire crowd

SAVAGES WIN GAME South Siders Defeat West Side Eleven at Fayette Field.

The West Side football team was defeated by the South Side Savages at Fayette Field yesterday morning 13-0. South Side failed to kick either goal, Smith and DeBolt both going wide of the bars. The South Side boys scored in the first and third quarters. In the first period White intercepted a forward pass and ran 20 yards, placing the ball on the one yard line. Two rushes took the ball over. In the third quarter the Savages again rushed the ball over, DeBolt making the score. The game was late in starting owing to the lack of a football to play with. Neither team possessed a ball, both having borrowed ovals to practice with. One was secured in the North End. Joe Menefee, fullback for the West Side, was forced to leave the game with a bad knee. He slipped in a muddy place on the field and twisted it. His knee was hurt two years ago when he played for high school. Linger Galloway, also of the West Siders, had his right arm sprained in the last play of the game. The game is an annual one played every Thanksgiving. The South Side
